After opening up our mysterious suitcase, we discovered "Nobody" inside. Our class learned all about Nobody's lack of identity and decided to do something about it. We learned that we would each do our own special project with Nobody, but first, we decided to do one together as a class.

Earlier in the year, we learned about an organization that we could help for Do One Nice Thing. The organization is called "Free The Children." It is an organization in which youth, help other youth. Since we had already started to learn about this program, we thought it would be great to help them through our class project. Therefore, we chose to help people. Since we are youth, we thought it would be great to help other children who are less fortunate than ourselves and don't have the same opportunities. We were inspired that Craig Keilburger started this organization at only 12 years old - if he could do it, we could do it!

The way we decided to help Free The Children was to each make and decorate our own penny collection jar for home. We also made one to stay in our classroom. Our penny drive began at the beginning of our Nobody project and will last until the end of it. Even though we just started it, some of our penny jars are already overflowing.

Our project will help to raise awareness about other children's needs and rights in the world. Our donated pennies will assist in the "Adopt A Village Campaign." With this, kids in other countries will get food, clean water and a school, to help them receive an education.

We added pennies to Nobody's face to give it eyes and a nose. We added these as our 3D attachment so that Nobody can see our beautiful world and 'nose' its important role here.

The 3 character attributes that we used in this project are: Fairness (it is only fair that every child in this world, have an equal chance at a good life), Optimism (the hope and belief that our small acts of kindness are making a big difference in the world) and, Empathy (we understand that we are very fortunate and we feel for others who are not. We care for the feelings of all other living things, so we help them.

With this project, we learned that we are very fortunate to be who we are, living where we do. We also learned how simple it is to help other living things and that you can do it at any age. We feel amazing after this project because we know we made a difference in this world and we contributed to helping make "Nobody" a "Somebody." We are so excited that we had the opportunity to work on this project and to use our unique talents and differences to create change.

For my nobody project I helped a girl named Yulitza, pronounced Julia. She is nine years old who lives in a small town called Quivican.

I chose to help Yulitza because she is less fortunate than I. For example, Yulitza's house is a cement block and it does not have running water. I thought it would be nice to send Yulitza things like clothes, books, school supplies, toys and scrapbooking paper and stickers.

My gifts were delivered Easter weekend. Pictures of Yulitza were taken so I could see her and Yulitza wrote me a thank you letter in Spanish.

The three character attributes that I used are : fairness (I believe that every child should have the same opportunities); respect (that we are all equal and the same even though we live differently); and perseverance (that it is worth putting 100% in everything that we do).

My 3-D attachment is a bathing suit cover up. I sent clothes to Yulitza to keep her warm and make her feel pretty.

from this project I learned that I am very fortunate to live where I do and for what I have because others do not have it as good as I. It felt amazing to give to Yulitza and get a letter from her because it made me realize it doesn't take a lot to make someone happy.

My goal is to continue to help Yulitza and maybe even other girls in her small town. We live in different worlds, but have many things to in common. I hope to help others to be the best that they can be. I hope I am for Yulitza!

Walking back from school, the thought kept running in my head about what topic I can choose that can relate to my project "who is nobody" I came home and kept brain storming about many ideas and finally I decided to help physically challenged and disable people by collecting aluminum pop can tabs can be melted to create a wheelchair for someone in need. The pop can tabs can be easily collected in our houses, schools and work places. This idea not only helps the disable people but also our environment because we are recycling.

I decided to choose this topic because I wanted to help my grandfather who is 75 years old. Due to his old age, walking around sometimes becomes very difficult for him, especially when he falls sick. There are many people in this world like my grandfather who are old and moving around independently is becoming very difficult for them. I do understand the greatest need for wheelchairs is by physically disable people in this world. Some of them are young as me living in poverty. The tragic part is that these kids don't even have the money to purchase a wheelchair. Their parents don't earn so much money because the price of a wheelchair can run between $400-$800.

I started this project with the help of my family. I told them about my school project and what to do with the pop tabs. I gave participating members a collection jar with a poster. They placed the jar in their school cafeterias and work places. With the help of my mom, I also started researching organizations on the internet that have a similar project of building wheelchairs out of aluminum pop tabs. I decided to donate my collection to "President's choice children charity. They have many drop off sites in the "GITA" like sick kids hospitable cafeteria and variety village.

The three character I used are Respect; Our elders deserve our outmost respect. My grandfather has worked very hard all his life. I remember when I first started school, my grandfather and I used to walk together.

Fairness

Fairness: (This project is a great effort for providing assistance and independence to many physically disable people so they can move around on their own.) Responsibility: (It is my responsibility as a granddaughter to take care and help my grandfather. It is also a responsibility as a community to help disable people in need by providing them with our assistance.) My 3-D attachment is a pop tab on a string to many people a pop is useless. Once the can is open but valuable to many unfortunate disable people around the world it's gold. From this project I learned that senior disable people need our help. As a responsible community we need to provide whatever assistance we can. I also learned that senior and disable people third world countries are not as fortunate. They don't have many charitable organizations like the ones in Canada. We need to educate people starting from our friends and families and reach out to other living things in different parts of the world. If everyone starts contributing to this cause, many disable and senior people like my grandfather can have a wheelchair.

My future goal is to continue with this effort of collecting pop tabs and donate them to the P.C children's charity. I have a family in India and I want them to participate because many disable and senior people can be helped with this idea. With this idea many in great need can be helped and I hope I can spread this wonderful idea with such a small deed around this world.

In this modern age protection of mother earth and its surrounding is the chief need of hour . Every day we are hearing the disadvantages of global warming which make me disappointed and I feel like thinking over these global issues. As increase in pollution in the atmosphere created an ozone hole due to which the harmful uv-rays comes to the earth which in turn, causes skin cancer to humans.

I have decided to choose this topic because many of have to live without food and shelter. Though many people have to face death due to floods and diseases like cancer which are causes of global warming. There happens a great loss to plants and animals. Due to these reasons, I have chosen to help Nobody by protecting the environment from the ill hazards that we are creating.

I created awareness to my neighbours, plants in my surroundings, I talked to our friends and family who live next door to our home about the bad affects of global warming.

I made my pamphlets about protecting the environment and distributed it in my neighbourhood. After I talked with them about the environment, they decided to grow a tree in front of their home. I raised awareness about grow green, be clean to the community. I conveyed the message of no tree, no breathing, no life, from the past few days. I am working on this project and talking to my friends, family and neighbours.

I exercised the following attributes: Initiative—first I took initiative with the help of my parents so that I could help living creatures by protecting the environment.

Responsibility—being a human, I protected the environment from harmful things, is my first responsibility.

Optimism—I started my work within a small community but had a positive approach towards my work. I think these small acts can make this world so beautiful.

My 3D attachment is a flower basket containing plants which are the symbol of a healthy environment.

I learned that it's been a fortune to me to get such a nice project so that I can contribute what I have to the community because everybody does not get a chance to do so.

....BE CLEAN

That I can contribute what I have to the community because every body does not get a changes to do so .

From my experience with this project I came to know that if every body him self feel the Protection of the environment is his responsibility and duty , we would never face such problems with our surroundings because we have to under stand that our survival in a healthy environment will be nothing except worst.

My future goal is to continue with raising awareness about the advantages of a healthy environment and growing more and more plants in the community , I guess these ideas can create the spirit of protecting the environment in the whole man kind. I'm sure I will achieve my goal one day!

For my nobody project I picked environment because I like to keep the environment clean. You have to keep the environment clean because if you don't keep the environment clean you or someone else can get sick. If bacteria spreads new diseases can be made and existing ones can spread. Also, garbage can increase the speed of global warming. We keep the environment clean because maybe it can create new diseases. If you keep the environment clean you will stay clean; there will be no more global warming. So respect the environment. This is my future goal that I keep up with cleaning the environment. The three character traits that I used are honesty, responsibility and patience. And I made a brochure to go with my project.

For my Nobody project I wanted to help people be safe around dogs. Because of this Cheryl and I got together and organized a presentation. On Friday April the 17th 2010 we went to my class and taught the class how to recognize a dog when it wants someone to go near it or not. The class learned it quickly and had lots of questions afterward. When we finished the presentation everyone (including me) got a sheet that had lots of questions on it. My 3D attachment for Nobody is a dog on a leech and a bone ingenuity (I live with a expert on dogs and I used the smarts to make the idea of using her skills) and responsibility (being responsible enough to do the jobs I need to do). I learned that many people do not be safe around dogs. I plan to continue teaching people how to be a tree!

Over the past 70 years white tigers have been extinct so people shouldn't kill them for their bones and their skin and for medicine and other body parts . There used to be 5000 to 7,400 tigers left in the wild. Another reason the tiger's population is decreasing is because there is less forest space left. The forests are being converted to agriculture. The tigers can't find enough food to survive so they eat Villager's food and attack the humans

Some breeders will inbreed white tigers in captivity; this causes birth defects and mutations. I chose white tigers because I think they're interesting and because I think they're strong animals. I also want to learn more about white tigers so I researched on the internet and got info. I found a web that I would like to share: www.bigcatrescue.org

My Attributes are caring - I used caring because I want the tigers to live longer .

My 2nd one is to be respectful to the tigers .

My final attribute is to be responsible to love. I picked this because I like to take care of animals.

Save world, Save oxygen

I choose the environment because people are cutting down trees and trees give us oxygen and if they cut down the trees, they are wasting oxygen and we need oxygen because we need oxygen to breathe. I choose this living thing because people are cutting down trees for along time and today, people are still are cutting trees because they want to make a fire and make paper and that is really bad because trees always make us alive so we can take deep breathe. I helped the environment by planting seeds and the seeds grow into trees and that's how you put more oxygen into the world if you plant seeds every single place you go. I was making posters to plant seeds and the seeds will grow to a tree if you water it everyday. I did my project in my backyard and I planted 6 seeds in my backyard and now I am going to plant seeds in my front yard. I did my project on April 7,2010 and the time was 3:30. The three attributes I used are responsibility, for planting seeds, respect, to keep the oxygen and fairness, by giving all the people oxygen. My 3-D attachment is 2 apple seeds on top of the penny eyes. I learned that if you be nice to the environment ,you are actually saving the environment and saving other people you don't know. I felt great because I was saving the environment and people and myself.

Nobody came home with me for two days. He came on Tuesday and I brought him back to school on Thursday. I played board games with him and he went to bed with me. He watched TV with me and he sat in the garage and watched me play outside. He read books with me and we took turns reading the pages. We played with my Dinky Cars and my monster trucks. When we woke up in the morning, he ate with me and watched TV. He stayed home when I went to school and he was waiting for me at the door when I got home. I felt special being able to take Nobody home and we had a lot of fun together.

Every December, my family goes to see a wheelchair race. We cheer for every team. We give money to the Canadian Paraplegic Association every month. They help people who have had spinal cord injuries and people with physical disabilities. Most of these people can do a lot of things for themselves but they aren't able to move around in the same way that I can. Some of the things that the Paraplegic Association does for people is to help them get jobs, help them meet other people in wheelchairs and give them information to answer questions that they have.

For my nobody project I picked people because I like helping people. I went to the store with my mom to buy food and toys. The food and toys were for the children at the shelter. We went there at Wednesday April 28, 2010. My aunt helped me. She went inside to tell the lady's who organize the shelter. She told them about my nobody project. Then she came outside so we opened the car and got out the food and toys. We went inside the lady's office and told them why I'm doing this. They were happy for me. On the way out we met a women whose car did not work. So she atched a wire to her car to our car then we both started the car and took the wire out. After the women's car was working. I went to my house after. I did this project because I wanted to help the poor children have something to play in the summer or have something to eat because in this world we all have the right to eat and play. We need to eat because when we eat we get the energy to play and when we play our heart beats it means we stay alive. When our nose is pinched by our finger and our mouth is close we can't breath and if we can't breath we will die. and if we die people will cry so that's why food and toys are important for the whole wide world! When we went to the shelter my my aunt said she wanted to volenteer in the shelter. I asked her can I too volenteer in the shelter! The lady gave my aunt a volenteering package. That's what my donating to the shelter was my nobody project. My 3D attachment is a little tiger and shorts. The tiger is showing nobody have a toy and shorts are showing the kid's in the shelter had short's so nobody has shorts. The 3 charter traits I used are giving by giving to the poor children. My second charter trate is respect by respecting the poor children. My last charter trate is honesty by doing this project truthly! I feet amazing because I made a small differnt-s to a big differnt-s also I feel amazing because I changed some poor people-s life! changing someone-s life really really feels amazing by doing this fantastic nobody project that includes everyone! Donating to the shelter

Donating to Haiti

Responsibility

I chose to donate to Haiti because Haiti is struggling to recover from the devastating earthquake of Jan. 2010, which killed as many as 300,000,000 people. Most of the Haitian population lives in poverty and not the type of poverty us in Canada uses too. Many of the people in Haiti live in shacks. Many of these shacks don't even have doors. The people in Haiti live in impoverished living conditions and need our donation.

Helping the poor people in Haiti is just the right thing to do. When there is this type of natural disaster affecting any country every one should pitch in and help the weak, the poor and the injured. I pitched in by making a lemonade stand at my front yard to help fund raise money for Haiti. Each cup of lemonade was sold at 25 cents. The money I made was used to buy non-perishable food, clothing and items which were donated to Red Cross. I even donated some of my clothes and shoes.

My 3D attachment is a hat. I chose a hat for two reasons:

#1: to protect victims of the elements - sun and heavy rain fall. #2 we want nobody to become somebody so a hat is the most noticeable fashion item anyone can wear. The old saying goes "if you want to get ahead and get noticed, then get a hat!"

The three character attributes that I used are:

Perseverance—the more effort you put in, the greater the outcome.

Caring—caring and helping those to overcome their hardships.

Responsibility—it is our responsibility to help save the world and make it a better place.

From this project I learned that if you help a country, you save a part of the world. When you are in a position to help someone, we should go all the way to help them. You get this great feeling of satisfaction, knowing that even the littlest thing you do, can mean a lot to someone in need.

My goal is to keep on helping countries that are in need.

As for my nobody project, I went to a retirement home. I went there because every person should get the same amount of respect because there are some people who don't get treated as people. It's not right because in some countries they don't get treated as people and don't get the proper. So respect one and each other. The three character traits I used are, respect, to one and other, caring, to be caring in situations and last but not least responsibility because it's our responsibility to respect this earth. The 3D attachment I put on nobody is a wrist pouch and a cotton beard. I put a cotton beard on nobody because old men have white beards. If you respect everyone they will be happy and if they're happy everybody might be happy. My future goal is keep respecting and not complaining and not be very very very negative and always care about everyone to care about people and the environment.

For my nobody project I decided to help people because I like helping people who are sick and helpless. I started this project with the help of my family. I want to the store on Saturday May 1, 2010. with my mom and dad to buy juice to sell to my neighborhood to raise money for sick children. I spent around 2 weeks to sell the juice to people to collect the money. I want to door to door with my mom and brother to sell the juice in my neighborhood. I was very happy when I was raising money for sick children hospital because I love helping sick and helpless children. Four months ago I want to the sick children hospital to see my cousin who got burned. I thought I should raise money for kids who are sick because they have the same right to like us to play with toys and wear wonderful cloths. I decided to donate vise money to sick children hospital so the kids get more toys to play with. I created awareness to my family friends and neighbor hood. I talked with them about donating money. The three character attributes I used are Fairness. -By doing this project I believe every single child in the whole world should have the same opportunity we should help disable and helpless children so can feel better. Responsibility -As a human being it is my responsibility to help sick and helpless children by donating them money. Respect -Every child in the whole world deserves same amount of respect. So we should respect their feelings. I want them feel happy by getting new toys and clothes. My 3d attachment is a juice box and fake money on it that. I used for collecting the money. I learned that when we help others feel very happy. I think I am lucky who got a chance to help sick children. My future goal is to continue with raising money for sick children so they can enjoy this wonderful world too. I want all people and friends to help sick children by donating money.

I choose the environment because it is important to have a healthy environment in order to have a healthy life. People are cutting down trees and forests because of which people do not get oxygen, there is a lot of pollution and diseases like cancer are spreading. We should not litter and recycle more so that the environment can stay clean and green.

I wanted to collect litter and make people aware of a clean environment. My family helped me clean up the community. Lots of people started recycling and stopped putting litter on the ground. Instead they used recycle bins.

My idea was to have a clean environment so I attached a water bottle on the leg and a reusable bag on the hand.

I like to clean the environment because it's good for the earth also that we can have clean water to drink and fresh air to breath in. We can help clean the environment by reducing waste and recycling the household waste we reduce carbon dioxide which is harmful for the environment.

WHY DO WE RECYCLE

We recycle because we help the environment in many ways . We prevent trees from being cut down everyday. Trees being cut down is bad because if we keep cutting down trees in the future our air will not be fresh enough to breathe in. We will not even have any air to breathe in without trees. If we keep destroying the environment and every living thing or non-living things will die until there aren't any left. That can also happen to trees. Items we recycle into the blue recycling bin. Every time people do not recycle plastic items people have to go into the earth to dig out things called minerals. That's why we recycle .

The Ontario Federation for Cerebral Palsy

I think I showed responsibility by making sure Nobody is kept in good condition by making it sleep in my room. I made Nobody have a pretend bath and I pretended to feed Nobody food so he will not starve! I showed Nobody respect by introducing him to my family making Nobody sleep in my room. I showed Nobody around the house.

Empathy is a flyer you put on your fridge to remind when they are coming to pick up the clothes. I am very attached to Nobody because he is like a brother or sister that I need to take care of! I learned from Nobody that everyone and everything are very special in this world. I felt happy that I could do something for Nobody. I am planning to continue helping children with cerebral palsy!

[The following information is mostly taken from a flyer published by the Ontario Federation for Cerebral Palsy]

For my project I choose to help the Ontario federation for Cerebral palsy. They do many thing to raise money and help children with cerebral palsy. One of the things they do is collect used clothes toys and small thing and use the money for programs and services to help the kid with cp and their families. Cerebral palsy is a disorder that stops movement in the body and muscles. It is caused by damage to parts of the brain in babies and children. Kids with it have problems moving walking running standing talking writing or putting on their Clothes. Some have problem eating breathing and learning. You can't catch it you dot get it from your parents and you can't die from it. There are also different types. There isn't any cure for it so most children will grow up with it. I had a lot of clothes that don't fit me any more so my mom and I took my old clothes that I don't wear anymore out of my closet and my drawers and put them in a bag and the OFCP came and pick them up. Now we are going to take the toys that I don't use and play with anymore from my room and give it to them. When they sell my clothes and toys they will. And I also ask my cousin to help me and they also collect there old clothes for the organization I choose these project because children with cerebral palsy have a disability and I have seen kids with it in wheel chair. Not only am I helping the people with cp but I am also helping the Environment. Because I am not throwing my clothes away to reduce garbage because clothes can be recycled into new things like car seats furniture mattress yarn and paper or be sold and reused. Did You Know...? Canadian people waste the most things in the world. Everyone wastes 7 kilograms of things made from cloth every year. If all the cloth things we throw away were put together they would fill up the Rogers Centre.

BIRDS

For my project I chose to write about birds. Birds are important in our environment. Birds build nests in our trees. The trees give them homes. You should not cut down trees because we lose oxygen and birds and other animals lose their homes. There are many different kinds of birds. You can find birds anywhere. There are special birds at the zoo. In the summer, if you look out the window you will see many birds flying around. In the winter, most birds fly south to keep warm.

So please don't chop down trees and put up a bird-house to help feed the birds.
